CMOC International's Corporate Headquarters Opens in Phoenix

Phoenix, AZ - A top tier global mining company has chosen midtown Phoenix as the location for its international headquarters. CMOC International is utilizing over 25,000 square feet at 2600 N. Central Ave, and will have approximately 100 employees.

In lieu of a formal grand opening CMOC International will contribute $20,000 to the Salvation Army USA Hurricane 2017 Fund to support the long-term recovery and rebuilding of those communities most affected.

“Our corporate values guide our actions and decisions, and we endeavor to ensure that our products improve the lives of people around the world. Watching the devastating impact of the recent hurricanes have had on so many communities, it was apparent to us that we should do more to help those in need” said Kalidas Madhavpeddi, CEO.

Further he stated, “Gathering our management team in one location to support our world class mining and mineral processing operations strengthens the effectiveness and efficiency of our company. Arizona’s long mining history makes Phoenix an ideal choice for our corporate headquarters.”

About CMOC International

CMOC International’s high-quality mining assets include Tenke Fungurume copper-cobalt mine in the Democratic Republic of Congo, Northparkes copper and gold mine in Australia and NioBras and CopeBras, niobium and phosphate operations, in Brazil. Our diverse portfolio of long-life assets are positioned to address the world’s need for high quality metals and minerals. CMOC International operates under global best practices and adheres to ICMM and EITI principles. All of the above operations have achieved ISO 14001 environmental certification.

CMOC International is a wholly owned subsidiary of CMOC, owner and operator of the award-winning Sandaozhuang Mine, one of the largest defined reserve of molybdenum and the second largest reserve of tungsten in the world. It feeds several tungsten and molybdenum processing facilities around the cities of Luanchuan and Luoyang in Henan Province. CMOC International oversees operations in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Brazil and Australia.
